

I am an Adult First Time Hunter and a qualified resident of Alberta.

What do I need to do in order to hunt?

To determine residency qualifications, contact your local Alberta Fish and Wildlife office.
Adult is defined as anyone 18 years of age or older.

Determine your eligibility to hunt in Alberta and acquire a Wildlife Identification Number (WIN) card. To be eligible, you must qualify under one of the following options:

Complete an Alberta Conservation and Hunter Education Course either in the Province of Alberta or elsewhere.
(Contact A.H.E.I.A. for upcoming dates, or visit their website www.aheia.com and complete the course on-line)

OR:

Have previously held a license authorizing recreational hunting in Alberta or another jurisdiction.

It is a Provincial requirement that all first time hunters in Alberta pass the Alberta Conservation and Hunter Education program prior to qualifying for a hunting license. This process had been made easier with the introduction of our new Online Course. The program covers all important hunting topics and has an online comprehensive final exam. This easy-to-use program is available to anyone with an internet capable computer. You may pause and return to the program as many times as you wish. Upon successful completion of the thirteen online modules and a minimum of 80% on the 100 multiple choice question final exam, a certificate will be issued by mail. Below are the twelve online modules; at the end of each module there is a ten question review test.

Hunters in Alberta must obtain a ten-digit Wildlife Identification Number (WIN), available from license vendors, before applying for or purchasing any license or wildlife certificate.

To determine what, where and when to hunt, obtain a copy of the current Alberta Guide to Hunting Regulations (free publication) available from license vendors or online at www.mywildalberta.com. Be aware that some licenses are only available through a special draw.

To locate a license vendor near you, contact the Active Network Call Centre or visit the Active Network website: www.albertarelm.com.

Contacts for the organizations mentioned are available on the next page.

Land access is an important issue to all hunters — ensure that you have proper legal access and permission prior to hunting. For more information, contact your local Alberta Fish and Wildlife Office.

Publication guides are a great resource to locate new places to hunt. Discover Alberta's Wild Side — Guide to Outdoor Adventure, the Alberta Conservation Association's free publication, will assist you in finding 361 opportunities to discover Alberta's wild side, including hundreds of properties that you may hunt on.
